

THE CABO COMEDY FESTIVAL IS BACK TO ENTERTAIN AUDIENCES!

September 29, 2015 - Los Angeles, CA – The Cabo Comedy Festival, which launched in 2013 in Cabo San Lucas, B.C.S., Mexico under the slogan “Where the Land Ends and the Fun Begins,” returns this week to generate laughs south of the border. Last year’s festival was canceled after Hurricane Odile struck the Los Cabos region on September 15, 2014.

The 5-day Cabo Comedy Festival (www.cabocomedyfestival.com), kicks off on Wednesday, September 30, and runs through October 4, 2015. It is produced by LA-based the Zaring Group and Wind Entertainment and sponsored by the Los Cabos Tourism Board, and will feature performances at Desperados Cantina and La Divina Bar by over 75 of the entertainment industry’s top stand-up headliners. It will also include Q&A panel discussions on the business of comedy at the Tesoro Resort Los Cabos, and official parties at some of the hottest bars in Cabo, including Baja Junkie and Mango Deck. A portion of the proceeds of the Comedy Festival will benefit DIF Los Cabos, a charitable organization which supports children and families in need.

“We’re thrilled to welcome the second edition of the Los Cabos Comedy Festival to the destination,” said Ruben Reachi, General Director of Los Cabos Tourism Board. “We particularly applaud the Festival’s lineup of top-tier performers, who serve to entertain our visitors in unmatched ways.”

Just a few of the comedians set to perform this year include Ahmed Ahmed, Cisco Saldana, Al Jackson, Ben Gleib, Ben Morrison, Brandt Tobler, Brooks Wheelan, Cathy Ladman, Drew Lynch, Jeff Dye, John Fugelsang, Lil Rel, Mark Eddie, Paul Rodriguez and Tiffany Hadish. 25 of the top stand-ups from Mexico will also perform, including Televisa’s late night talk show star Rene Franco, Gon Curiel and Fran Hevia.

The festival will also stage the Jack Rollins Breakthrough Talent Competition wherein 20 'opening act' level comedians will perform over 2 nights (Thursday and Friday) at Desperados with the top 5 acts from each night advancing to re-compete on Saturday before a panel of entertainment industry experts. The winner of the Jack Rollins Breakthrough Talent Competition will win an appearance on AXS TV's "Gotham Live."

The festival will culminate with legendary stand-up comedienne Elayne Boosler receiving the festival's Giant of Comedy Award. The Improv's founder Budd Friedman received the inaugural honor.

The Cabo Comedy Festival is excited to partner with Levity Entertainment Group and Sirius/XM. Levity will produce a 'best of the fest' highlight show for Sirius/XM, which is the largest radio broadcaster with more than 28.4 million subscribers. Sirius XM creates and broadcasts commercial-free music; premier sports and live events; news and comedy; exclusive talk and entertainment; and the most comprehensive lineup of Latin commercial-free music, sports and talk programming in radio.

Show tickets, festival badges and hotel packages are available at www.cabocomedyfestival.com. The festival's Twitter and Instagram accounts are @CaboComedyFest or Facebook/Cabo Comedy Festival.

Zaring Group founder John Zaring has three decades of experience in celebrity event production. The firm has been promoting Mexico via special events and celebrity appearances since 2007.

Levity Entertainment Group (LEG) is an integrated entertainment company that creates and distributes content across multiple platforms. The company maintains four main divisions: live, management, production, and digital. Their mission is to be the most comprehensive global media resource for their clients and partners.

Los Cabos, located at the tip of the 1,000-mile long Baja Peninsula, is home to award-winning hotels, resorts, championship golf courses, rejuvenating spas, world-class sport fishing, and was the host city for the G20 Summit of global leaders in 2012. With a unique landscape of dramatic desert and white sand beaches, Los Cabos is an exotic escape within easy reach of most U.S. and Canadian cities.
